First Companies Completes Build-out of New West Michigan Dermatology Office

The first of two new offices for the growing practice is completed in Holland, with a second office underway in Grandville

December 18, 2018 – Grand Rapids, Mich.

First Companies announced today the company has completed construction of the first of two new offices for West Michigan Dermatology. The new 6,000 square foot office in Holland, Michigan was a full renovation inside an existing medical facility located at 3290 N. Wellness Drive, Building D, and took 4 months to complete. Construction of a second new office at 3434 Rivertown Point Court SW in Grandville is currently underway and is scheduled to open in May of 2019. The practice does not anticipate any downtime during construction.

“First Companies has a long history of building class-A medical facilities for doctors and other medical professionals in Michigan,” said Matt Sink, chief operating officer, First Companies. “We were honored to be selected by West Michigan Dermatology to create two beautiful new offices that will serve their patients well and enable the practice to expand the services they offer.”

“We want our patients to have the best experience possible when they walk in our doors. We are excited to move to these new locations that will help us provide exceptional care and even better service for them,” commented Dr. Douglas Winstanley.

The 35-year-old dermatology practice offers advanced diagnostic and treatment options for skin cancer, including Mohs microsurgery, in addition to a wide variety of skin, hair, and nail conditions. The providers expertly treat acne, eczema, and psoriasis, as well as offer cosmetic treatments and procedures.
